Venue- MES Auditorium

Time - 10.00 am to 12:00 am

Speaker – Mr. Dhananjay Kulkarni

MES IMCC conducted a Seminar on Intellectual Property Rights on 16th September 2017 in MES Auditorium.

Every creation requires creativity, time, effort and energy. But no matter what the investment or time, Intellectual Property is vital for protecting your creation, whether big or small. It is important to generate awareness about Intellectual Property and benefits of IPR among students and young working professionals.

While we witness a rapid growth of scientific, technological and medical innovation, it's important for students to understand IPR and its value in protecting your inventions. Working in the realm of industrial property, you will most likely be involved in the creation of proprietary designs or inventions. Safeguarding and managing your research results are the most significant benefits of IPR for researchers.

Sr. No.	Topics Covered
1	Introduction to IPR, Safeguarding and managing your research results

Sir gave a brief introduction on IPR and explained the various related terms such as copyrights, patents etc.

Sir concluded the session with the importance of safeguarding intellectual property for students, faculties and researchers. 91 students attended the session.

Time - 10.00 am to 5:00 pm
Speaker – Dr. Manish Joshi

MES IMCC conducted a Seminar on Data Collection Techniques for Research Project on 18th February 2018 in Hall No. 6.

Data collection refers to the correct and organized way of obtaining studies. It helps you to grab the proper basic knowledge of your area of research.

The process of data collection is vital for any research in any field, be it in science, humanities, or business planning. If the collected data is not adequate and credible, it poses a threat to the research's longevity.

Sir discussed six data collection methods viz. interviews, Questionnaires and surveys, Observations, Documents and records, Focus groups and Oral histories. Total 61 students attended the session.

Contents:

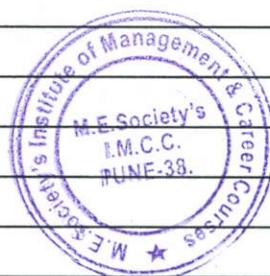

Session	Time	Topic
First	10.00 am to 1.00 pm	Methods for data collection that includes observation techniques, construction of questionnaires, interview technique, and systematic review
Second	2.00pm to 5.00pm	Overview of analytical methods that are appropriate for different research questions, research designs.

Research: Do it Intelligently using tools

Research is an important task of creativity and innovation. Researchers come up with new ideas, observations, solutions for research problems. However, such expected research outcomes do not come at once. No research activity can be successful unless a systematic approach is practiced with dedicated hard work is at the core of it.

Various phases that comprise research activity involves finalization of research problem statement, extensive literature survey, experimentation, writing, reference management, publish and present etc. Although all these activities are significant, a researcher cannot afford spending lot of energy and time in these phases. Spending more energy in these tasks will leave researcher exhausted and moreover researcher cannot concentrate effectively on seeking innovative solutions.

Advancements in Information Technology and research in Natural Language Processing have come to rescue researchers. Several tools are available that will help researchers in their day to day back-end task of research pre-processing, research documentation, research presentation. In this talk, I will introduce some of these tools that will make your research life easier and that ultimately will lead to better, effective research solutions.

Seminar on Importance of Patents for College Students

Date – 16th December 2017
Venue- MES Auditorium

Time - 09.30 am to 11:00 am
Speaker – Dhananjay Kulkarni

MES IMCC conducted a Seminar on Intellectual Property Rights on 16th December 2017 in MES Auditorium.

It is important to mention is a sole right given to the inventor by country. It restricts other users from suing, making and selling of the invention during the valid life of the patent.

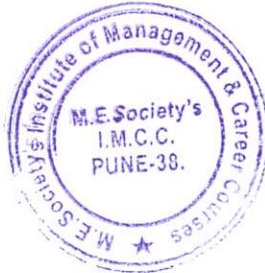

Every creation requires creativity, time, effort and energy. But no matter what the investment or time, Intellectual Property is vital for protecting your creation, whether big or small. It is important to generate awareness about Intellectual Property and benefits of IPR among students and young working professionals. Patent protection can be applicable to design, process or product that is novel and useful.

Sir concluded the session by highlighting the importance of patenting for students and how it is important for the nation as well. Total 97 students attended the session.
